The Nation.

[Vol. 74, No. 1913

plain all the passions which are common and are even characteristic with more knowledge of modern French. The novelist, for instance, may be a

The last and least formal feature of this edition is the lead introduction of 20 pages which will have been discarded by 20 without the slightest scruples. The editor gives an account of the

Brooklyn Museum.

30 The Church and the Nation:

The same kind of material, with a new kind of

April 27, 1907

Citizenship.

The Elements of Architecture, edited by Henry Wotton, Jr., from the best,

The last and least formal feature of this edition is the lead introduction of 20 pages which will have been discarded by 20 without the slightest scruples. The editor gives an account of the

Brooklyn Museum.

30 The Church and the Nation:

The same kind of material, with a new kind of

April 27, 1907

Citizenship.

The Elements of Architecture, edited by Henry Wotton, Jr., from the best,