Barnes's new story, though his first attempt at fiction, is a very good one. It is a story of a man and a woman, and of the love that grows between them. The man is a simple country bumpkin, the woman a cultured city girl. They meet in New York, and fall in love. The story is told in simple, direct language, and is a very natural one. It is a story of two people who come to know each other and to love each other. It is a story of love and understanding, and of the happiness that comes to those who have it.
